Do you have students requiring scribing, transcribing or reading of print materials?

Have you considered…

- Assistive Technology (AT)
  Software for reading text aloud and/or word prediction in writing

- Alternative Format Materials (AFM)
  Digital versions of curriculum resources for students unable to access regular print materials

Assistive Technology and Alternative Format Materials work together to support students who need accommodations in reading and writing.

More information is available at:
www.gov.nl.ca/edu/supportservices

www.gov.nl.ca/edu

These supports:

- Promote student independence
- Ease transition to post-secondary institutions
- Increase teacher time for student programming

Newfoundland Labrador