

SCIENCE CROSSWORD

Across

5. Each species occupies a position in an ecosystem. This position is known as its _____.
7. The resulting increase in concentration as pollutants are passed along the food chain from prey to predator.
9. Loss of this is the biggest threat facing most species.

Down

1. The non-native Coltsfoot is displacing the native plant Fernald's Braya. Coltsfoot is an _____ plant.
2. The total number of individuals of a particular species, race, or form of animal or plant inhabiting a particular locality or region.
3. A group of interacting species sharing an environment.
4. A regional collection of plants and animals that are adapted to the specific natural environment and terrain of an area.
6. It is important to protect species in order to conserve variety of life on our planet, also known as _____.
7. The process of accumulating toxins in an organism's body.
8. A species that has been introduced into a location outside its natural distribution.
9. habitat